Thermodynamics is the branch of physics that has to do with heat and temperature and their relation to energy and work. The behavior of these quantities is governed by the four laws of thermodynamics, irrespective of the composition or specific properties of the material or system in question. The laws of thermodynamics are explained in terms of microscopic constituents by statistical mechanics.

Temperature [T]: a measure of the tendency of an object or system to spontaneously give up energy [9].. Said another way, the property of a body (as in a human molecule) or region of space that determines whether or not there will be a net flow of heat [Q] into or out of it from a neighboring body (as in a bonded companion) or region and in which direction (if any) the heat [Q] will flow.
