A chemical element is a species of atoms having the same number of protons in their atomic nuclei (that is, the same atomic number, or Z). For example, the atomic number of oxygen is 8, so the element oxygen consists of all atoms which have exactly 8 protons.. 118 elements have been identified, of which the first 94 occur naturally on Earth with the remaining 24 being synthetic elements.

In chemistry and manufacturing, electrolysis is a technique that uses a direct electric current (DC) to drive an otherwise non-spontaneous chemical reaction. Electrolysis is commercially important as a stage in the separation of elements from naturally occurring sources such as ores using an electrolytic cell. The voltage that is needed for electrolysis to occur is called the decomposition ...

2 It is important to note that the balancing of an equation is accomplished by placing numbers in front of the proper atoms or molecules and not as subscripts. In an equation, all chemical species appear as correct formula units. The addition (or change) of a subscript changes the meaning of the formula unit and of the equation.
