Hemodialysis, also spelled haemodialysis, or simply dialysis, is a process of purifying the blood of a person whose kidneys are not working normally. This type of dialysis achieves the extracorporeal removal of waste products such as creatinine and urea and free water from the blood when the kidneys are in a state of kidney failure. Hemodialysis is one of three renal replacement therapies (the ...

Hemodialysis - Wikipedia

The authors review treatment of acute renal failure in critically ill patients, indications for intermittent hemodialysis and continuous renal replacement therapy, and the use of other variations of this therapy currently under investigation. Intermittent hemodialysis is still a commonly used ...
