Half a century in manufacturing experience of SUHNER quill feed units lead to the development of the autonomous, programmable machining unit BEA 16 CNC. The unit allows to perform all types of machining applications such as drilling, reaming, tapping, countersinking: Programmable working cycles with a digital servomotor

BEA 16 CNC - Suhner Automation Expert

With this high-performance quill feed unit, SUHNER is setting new standards for metal removal operations. Special features in comparison with traditional models within the same performance class include the following:
